The 16th annual Slamdance Film Festival will take place in Park City, Utah, Jan. 21-28, 2010. Passes are on sale now. Competition filmmakers will come to Park City this year like Slamdance alum Oren Peli did with independent sensation Paranormal Activity in 2008: as first-time feature directors working with limited budgets and without domestic theatrical distribution. This year's subjects and cast, in Slamdance's tradition of showcasing emerging diverse and independent voices, include William Burroughs, a yellow brick road, Bolivian women's wrestling, Sarah Silverman, Gus Van Sant, Lemmy and H. P. Lovecraft.
